THROWN UPON THE ALLEGHENY PARK MYSTERIOUS MURDER.

Evidence Tending to Show That James N Hill Did Not Murder Mrs. Ross Hotzler Nee Prysi, Formerly of this City-Still Probing the Case.

Probing the Case.

The Allegheny police are making small headway in securing evidence either in favor of or against James N. Hill, charged with the murder of Mrs. Ross Rouxer, nee Ross Prysi, formerly a well known young lady of this city. It was supposed that Hill, whose throat was cut from ear to ear, was the murderer, and as the chances were very decidedly that he would die, no particular effort seemingly has been made by the Allegheny officers to get at the facts. There are many circumstances which go to show that Hill did not murder Mrs. Rotzler and then attempt sulcide. New evidence has been brought forth by a Pittsburg newspaper tending to show that Hill did not do the killing, but was himself the victim of the jealous anger of one of Mrs. Rotzler's too numerous lovers.

At the time the murder was committed, about 10:30 p. m., or five minutes later, there were seated on one of the benches lined around the big fountain in the park, with their faces turned toward the scene of the tragedy, a young man and a young lady. The only light that fell upon the awful picture was that of a tower light two blocks away in a southseasterly direction from where the murder was committed, and an arc light hung midway across Union avenue at Park way. Their flickerings were dim and meager, and threw more light around the fountain which was without the shelter of any trees than on any other portion of the park. The young man who sat there with his sweetheart was John Baker, a printer of the Commercial Gazette; the young lady was Miss Ligals Joyce of Clinson row, Southside. Everything, both to the back and front of them, was sa dark as death, and just as silent, save for the passing of a street car Everything, both to the back and front of them, was set dark as death, and just as silent, save for the passing of a street car now and then. Suddenly, in the stillness of the night, the report of a revolver rang out, and in a minute later a short man dashed in their direction. He wore a stiff hat, and they would not say whether or not he wore an overcost. He had a frenzied look upon his face, and ran by them so fast but so close that he kicked Miss Joyce's foot. He had crossed the park toward Union avenue and was going in the so fast but so close that he kicked Miss Joyce's foot. He had crossed the park toward Union avenue and was going in the direction of South Diamond street, when patrol wagon No, 2 dashed out of that street into Union avenue, heading for Ohio street, in answer to a call from box 25, near Cedar avenue. At the sight of the wagon he turned back and again passed Baker and Miss Joyce closely enough to be recognized if ever seen by them again. be recognized if ever seen by them again. He rau in the direction of Cedar avenue. He ran in the direction of Cenar work as and made his exit from the park just as the police, who ran along that avenue from Ohio street, had passed. That was all they saw, but it was enough to con-vince them that this runsway was the murderer.

Mrs. Rotzler, by the admission of her own most intimate friend in Apollo, had a lover in Allegheny City, either a saloon-keeper or a druggist. She had repeatedly said that she did not care for Hill, and the fact that for some time she had cut off all financial transactions with him showed that there was nothing more than common intimacy between them. At 10 common intimacy between them. At 10 o'clock in the evening of the murder Hill and the woman were seen at the West Penn depot at Federal street. The infor-Penn depot at Federal street. The information leads to the belief that they walked along the platform in the direction of Union avenus with the intention of going to a house on Church avenue, where Mrs. Rotzler had a woman friend living and where she often took her male admirers. They entered the park with the intention of going out by the entrance on the opposite side, and were followed by a third party wearing a light overcoat. This men Hill will claim, if he is ever put on trial, was the murderer, and his motive was jealousy of the strongest type. There is much left for the Allegheny City police to do in this case, now that Hill is on his way to recovery.

FORCE USED

By Charles Hutt, the Waco of School.

Charles Hutt, the Waco, East Canton, school teacher, is succeeding in winning an excellent reputation as a passionate pedagogue. Hutt was written up in these columns some time ago in connection with a case in which he acted somewhat queerly toward two young men named Zengler whom he was bound not to admit to his whom he was bound not to admit to his school simply because he didn't want them there, though the school directors sent them to the school. Only a short time ago Helen Zengler, a very intelligent young lady who attends the school in which Hutt teaches, received a course of treatment at the hands of Hutt. Miss Zengler was told to change her seat and she prepared her books to carry them to the place assigned her. Hutt accused the young lady of some trivial act and the girl talked back. Hutt told her to leave and he caught hold of her and using more than ordinary force tried to push her out of the door. He succeeded finally, but Miss Zengler turned in through another door. Hutt again caught hold of her and came near seriously injuring her by attempting to force her out of the door again. The young lady screamed and Hutt evidently being frightened let go and requested her to apologize to him and he would also sak her forgiveness. Hutt evidently being frightened let go and requested her to apologize to him and he would also ask her forgiveness. Miss Zongler refused to forgive him and reported the matter to her father who will talk to the school directors concernthe teacher's actions toward his pupils. Sometime after that Hutt again wanted to punish the young lady for some alleged misconduct, but which in reality appeared to be only a desire on the part anged maconduct, but which in reality appeared to be only a desire on the part of the pedagogue to vent his wrath on the young lady. This statement of affairs came from one of the directors who was in the city today.

Women's Troubles.

Many women today suffer pain and are weak and nervous without knowing the cause. Their work greatly fatigues them and they cannot eat well. At night they rest poorly and in the morning feel wholly unfit for the duties of the day. It is short they are miserable from general impairment of health, besides enduring pain and distress hard to fully describe. Many such cases are the result of female weakness which affects the whole system, and they find quick and certain relief from the restreent fitted to the case.

Recognizing this fact Mrs. Dr. Harkey Adams has made special arrangement for the treatment and cure of this class of sufferers. The most modern discoveries in medicine are adopted in her mild, painless and successful treatment in these diseases. Mrs. Dr. Harkey Adams will visit Canton, April 18 and 19. Office, Barnett Hotel.

This is an age of doubt; especially in regard to cures by patent medicines, and not without reason, for too cfien have the sick and their near and dear loved ones been deceived by highly recommended nostrums that were swallowed to be of less avail than as much water. The old, old fable of the boy and the wolf applies also too frequently to many of the specific concoctions for curing the ills that fiesh is heir to; and when a real cure is effected by a genuine remedy those who might be benefitted fight shy of it, asying, "it was 'cure, cure,' so often before that I won't try it." When such a state of affairs exists it is advisable that assurance should be made doubly sure. This is an age of doubt; especially in be made doubly sure.

A few weeks ago a marvelous and al-

It was stated that Mr. John Marshall, a well known resident Mr. John Marshall, a well known resident of Hamilton, by the aid of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People, had been snatched from the very jaws of death, placed up in his feet and enabled to mingle with his fellow citizens with more than renewed health and strength and even brighter spirits than he had experienced for years before. Thinking little of the affair, Mr. Marshall continued to work on, but after a few months he became ill, gradually got worse, and in August, four years ago, became stricken with the dread disease, locomotor ataxy—a disease attacting the nerv-s and rendering that portion of the system attacked perfectly helpless, proclaimed by the physicians to be incurable—which left him from the waist downwards without feeling and utterally unable to move his lower limbs. AN UNNATURAL CASE COMES TO LIGHT IN MASSILLON, SMOTHERED.

A Girl Who Loved Too Well Gives Birth to a Child Which is Smothered in the Bed-The Mother Makes Her Escape.

There was little wisdom displayed in the love of Katie Widman for William Rastetter and the result is that the poor girl is now in a most embarrassing posi-tion and Massilion is enjoying a sensa-tion. Katie Widman came to this countion and Massillon is enjoying a sensation. Katie Widman came to this country two years ago and went to work on the farm of John Schulter, a milk dealer, fiving about a mile north of Massillon.
She came from Wurtenburg and could speak no English at all when she came. William Rastster's father owns an adjoining farm and William was often seen at the Schulter house. He seemed to fancy the plump and not altogether unprestry girl from the other side of the water and an intimacy is said to have resulted. About five months ago the girl went to the Sailer house in Massillon to work. She had opells of sickness and was taking medical treatment from Dr. Neal Hardy and his wife, who is also a physician. It is alleged that the physicians treated her first for dropsy and then for a tumor, but the phpsicians deny this. The girl remained at the Sailer house until last Saturday, when she complained of being sick and went to the home of her uncle, Michael Eiswirth, at No. 367 West Main atreet.
She was quite sick, but the family had no idea of her condition, she having strenuously maintained that alse was suffering with dropsy. Sunday evening she was vary sick, but it was not until about 2 o'clock Monday afternoon that the facts came out.

Mrs. Hardy was called in to see her,

o'clock Monday afternoon that the facts came out.

Mrs. Hardy was called in to see her, and in a short time discovered that the girl had given birth to a child. There was every evidence of that fact, and Mrs. Hardy asked her what she had done with the child. She stoutly protested that no child had been born, and that the evidence discovered by Mrs. Hardy was misleading. Mrs. Harly, however, insisted, and commenced a search for the child with the result that it was found near the foot of the bed under the heavy bed clothes, and partially between a feather tick and a straw mattress. The infant was dead, but there were indications that it was alive when born. Whether the girl was too weak to take proper care of her

But the baby was there and it was dead, so Coroner Conklin was sent for. He went to Massillon, visited the premises and took charge of the child. In the meantime Mcs. Eiswirth had succeeded in securing a confession from the girl as to the paternity of the child and had gone down stairs leaving the young and now thoroughly frightened mother alone. When Mrs. Eiswirth went up stairs later the girl was not there. She had gotten out of bed, put on her best dress, taken her pocket book and money and left the house surreptitiously. When the Coroner got there he found the baby but didn't find the mother.

A NEWS-DEMOGRAT man went to Massillon last evening to investigate the case and when he arrived all the policemen in the town were looking for the girl, as the Coroner had given orders that she must be arrested. No trace of her could be found, however, and as she had talked of suicide there were grave fears that she had jumped into the creek. When the NEWS-DEMOGRAT man returned to Canton at 3 o'clock this morning the search for the girl had been abandoned until daylight.

PROBABLY MURDERED.

PROBABLY MURDERED. A post mortem examination of the infant was made today by Mrs. Hardy. The condition of the lungs was such that there is not the slightest doubt but that the child was living when born, which fact will doubtless result in the giri being arrested for murder, if she can be found. A diligent search has been made for the unfortunate young woman, but to no avail. At 3 o'clock this afternoon she had not yet been found and there are fears that she has committed suicide, though she may have gons to visit an uncle, George Brown at Cairo, Wyandot county. She was on very friendly terms with Brown's family. The search is being continued.

"I have not much faith in patent nostrums," said Mr. Land, "but Mr. Mars shall's case proves beyond a doubt that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are a wonderful medicine. He seems to have exhausted all other means and methods of treatment during his long illness and all without any benefit, but his recovery was rapid and wouderful immediately after he commenced using Dr. Williams' Pink Pills."

Inquiries among the city druggists disclosed the fact that an extraordinary demand had arisen for Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and that the claims made for them by the proprietors are borne out by numby the proprietors are borne out by num-

John A. Barr, a well known and popular dispenser of drugs here, told the reporter that he knew of no patent medicine that had such a demand upon it, or one that had dene all that was promised for it. He told of several cases of great relief and cure that had come under his notice. Mr. Wm. Webster, after suffering from ataxy for years, from the first had found certain relief from taking the pills, and he is now a new man. Mr. George Lees, after years of illness of a similar nature, had taken the pills, and was able to walk out greatly improved in health. Another case Mr. Barr vouched for was a city patient who had been cured by the pills of the effects of la grippe, after having been given up by the doctors. Many others had spoken highly of the Pink Pills as a fine remedy for nervous and blood disorders. Other druggists told the same story.

A further investigation revealed the fact that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are not a patent medicine in the sense in which John A. Barr, a well known and popular

Mr. Marshall offered to make an affl-davit to the truth of the above story, but the reporter considered that wholly unnecessary. Louis Zimmer and Sadie Miller were arrested Tuesday night by Officers Wielandt and Romy. About 8 o'clock the officers accompanied by the patrol wagon and Officer Smith were called to Zimmer's house in South Cleveland avenue. THAT SENATORIAL INVESTIGATION.

Republican Correspondent of the Pitts burg Dispatch is Afraid of It. Special to Pittsburg Dispatch

WASHINGTON, April 11,-If the Republican minority in the United States Senate insists upon an investigation of the charges against Senator Roach, it is said here tonight, they will stir up a general scandal that will astonish the public. The Republicans may get the worst of the fight, moreever, because it is the Senators of their party who are now under fire. The past records of several of the Senators from the new States will not bear ins spection, and agents are now in Washington with evidence from the testimony of court records that will, if published or discussed in the Senate, cause Senators Hansbrough, Power and one or two others great and serious embarrassment.

The Reach case is undoubtedly a bac one, but some of the most influential Republicans in the Senate refuse to indorse the effort of Senators Hoar and Chandler to force an investigation, for the simple reason that they dread the public scandal that will follow. Senator Chandler took a hand in th discussion and declared that he was will ing that the character of every Republican Senator should be fully investigated. Senator Gorman also took part in the lebate, and declared that if the Republicans were determined to force this investigation into the moral characters of Senators prior to their entry into the Senate, it should be made with open doors, and every member of the body should be counted upon the stand up and give the Senate and the country an opportunity to overhaul his past life.
